Bernie Smith Gives Original Papers To Illinois College

BERNIE SMITH, international evangelist, was slated to present formally to Illinois college at Jacksonville some original Beecher family papers during the annual Commencement exercises this Sunday afternoon.

But Mr. Smith is ill, has been confined to Lightner hospital; so the papers were shipped to the school.

Reason the Harrisburg evangelist is giving these papers to the college is because Edward Beecher was the first president of Illinois college, founded in 1829.

There are about 80 sheets of these original papers, written by the Beechers, including Edward Beecher, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe and Lyman Beecher, which Mr. Smith has collected throughout the years.

Although Mr. Smith won't be there, the presentation remarks he has compiled will be read, and Evangelist Smith is presenting them as a living memorial to Esther Brockett Gall of Harrisburg, his teacher in 1935 and the first school teacher to encourage him to enter the ministry.

The presentation remarks written by Evangelist Smith, who since 1948 has preached all over the United States and in many other countries, who has preached to as many as 60,000 people in ten days (at a meeting in Pasadena, Calif.) and who has seen conversions at his meetings approach, the 20,000 mark, will say the following:

"Mr. Bernie Smith is happy to present the Beecher Family Papers to Illinois College as a living memorial to Esther Brockett Gall, who was his school teacher in 1935. Her Christian personality and tender spirit strongly influenced the total pattern of his ministry and life."

THIS IS A LITTLE LATE for a spot news story, but I just learned that a former Harrisburg young man is now mayor of Urbana, Ill.

He is Stanley Weaver, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lana Weaver. He is the brother of Mrs. Casey Dempsey, whose husband mentioned the fact when here a few days ago, and is the youngest of the five or six Weaver brothers and sisters. Incidentally, at 31 he is the youngest mayor ever to be elected in Urbana.

Mayor Weaver is the owner and director of a funeral home in Urbana.

Receive Letter from Teacher

Kindergarten Pupils Told Terrors of Communism

Harrisburg kindergarten pupils have been told of the terrors of Godless Communism and of the blessings of living in a democratic nation by a man who knows of which he speaks.

The words were written by Dr. Thomas A. Dooley to the morning and afternoon kindergartens of McKinley school, taught by Miss Mildred Walden.

It all started when the two classes, with lots of co-operation from their parents as well as their teacher, prepared Christmas boxes to be sent to needy and deserving children. They contained clothing, soap and other items.

Miss Walden had read a book, "Deliver Us from Evil," written by Dr. Dooley, a Navy doctor in wartime who saw the need and went with a medical mission of four to Indochina, and suggested that the Christmas boxes be sent to this mission, at Laos.

Receives Letter, Pictures

This was done a short time after Christmas and a couple of weeks ago Miss Walden received a letter, accompanied by pictures, from Dr. Dooley, which was written to "Dear Morning and Afternoon Kindergartens."

"Your box of presents was wonderful!" the letter began. "My kids loved it all very much. I have a class, much like yours, only I try to teach these little children from high in the Himalayan mountains the importance of soap and water, the relationship of dirt to disease,

Plan Stepped-Up Schedule In Legislature

Monday Through Friday Sessions Final Three Weeks

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois lawmakers were back home today, doubtless making the most of the last free Friday they will have before the 1957 General Assembly calls it quits.

Both the Senate and the House planned a stepped up schedule—Monday through Friday—in the final three weeks of the session. Constitutional requirements provide the six-month session must end by June 30; this session will end June 29, because the last day of the month falls on Sunday.

Rep. Robert W. McCarthy (D-Lincoln), meanwhile, announced the Senate will take up his public administrator bill Wednesday, when it will vote on whether to override Gov. William G. Stratton's veto.

The House last week gave the Governor a stinging rebuff by overriding his veto, but the Republican majority is larger in the Senate. A two-thirds majority of both houses is necessary to void the veto.

Bills Sent to Governor

Both houses moved through heavy calendars Thursday, moving scores of bills to passage stage. The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to permit retailers to retain 2 per cent of their sales and use tax collections to cover costs involved in keeping track of the tax receipts.

The House passed to the Senate a bill creating a commission to study township problems.

It sent to the Governor a bill to exempt employees of the University of Illinois, Southern Illinois University and the state teachers colleges from the law regulating political activity by civil service employees.

Another bill passed and sent to the Governor would change the name of New Salem State Park to Lincoln's New Salem State Park. The House also sent to the governor a bill changing various aspects of the state game code, including provision for the first open season on deer since 1901.

The restricted season, only in counties with surplus deer populations, will permit a brief period for hunting with shotgun, and a somewhat longer period when bow and arrow hunting is legal.

Chicago and Downstate Democratic Leaders Hold 'Harmony' Meeting

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Chicago and downstate Democratic leaders got together here Thursday for a "harmony" meeting, aimed at healing sore points between factions preliminary to the 1958 elections.

U. S. Sen. Paul Douglas was the principal speaker, and lost little time in attacking the Republicans. The gathering also attracted Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, and Cook County Sheriff Joseph Lohman.

Such downstate party leaders as central committeeman John R. Asher, Paris and William Lyons, Peoria, both of whom have differed sharply with Cook County Democratic leadership, also were present.

Richard B. Austin, who lost his bid for the governorship last fall, headed the list of defeated Democratic candidates at the "harmony" meeting.

James A. Ronan, Democratic state chairman, said the meeting was held in an attempt to bolster party work in an off year, and to discuss proposed changes in the election laws currently being considered in the Legislature.

Daley admitted that the Chicago area and the downstate sections have different problems and conditions.

"But," he said, "the Democratic committeeman of a Chicago or suburban ward has the same party principles . . . loyalty . . . and objectives as the Democratic chairman from any part of Illinois."

Douglas took some heavy shots at the Republican administration. The Republicans, he said, "have gone back on virtually every promise of 1952 and 1956 and the people are beginning to find out about it."

History of Ridgway Given at Meeting of Historical Society

Fifty people were in attendance at the Saline County Historical society meeting held Tuesday, June 4, at the home of Dr. Joe Bryant in Ridgway. The program consisted of a tour of the Blevin Popcorn plant and St. Joseph's church, a potluck dinner and a session devoted to the history of Ridgway and surrounding community.

The group was conducted thru the Blevin plant, the popcorn center of the world, by W. A. Robins, superintendent. Mr. Robins explained the curing of the corn, shelling, storage, drying, and separation into light and heavy grades before its entrance into the plant proper. Inside the group was shown the process of preparing the product for the market. By machinery the corn is packaged into fifty and one hundred pound bags, ten and two pound cans and ten ounce cans.

Mr. Robins explained that the farmers of the community raise from 20 to 200 acres of corn which produce an average of 2000 pounds to an acre. He explained that their product is not sold locally but is disposed of by contract or to buyers on the open market.

Church Built in 1893-1894

Rev. Father Benegoni conducted the group thru the St. Joseph's Catholic church, one of the finest in southern Illinois. The tall spire, visible from three to five miles distance, the steep roof, pointed arches, and buttresses attest to its Gothic design. The beauty of the church's interior, with its vaulted ceiling, stained glass windows, beautiful statues, and white Austrian marble altar and communion rail add to the worshipping quietness within.

During the discussion period Mr. Dan Collins related that the church was built in 1893-1894 under the personal supervision and architectural ability of Rev. Father J. A. Rensmann at a cost of $60,000. The church property now includes the church edifice, the rectory, the sister's home, and the school with an enrollment of sixty pupils.

During the discussion which followed the dinner, the president, Louis Aaron, called on Fred Kimbro who is a descendant of one of the first thirty families who migrated from Tennessee in 1795 to settle in the community. Mr. Kimbro told of the Old Shawneetown, New Haven Trail laid out by Joe Boone, Samuel Dagley, and Mr. Eddy and its part in the settlement of the new community. He related the names of many of those who came to make this community their home. He told of their trials with the Indians, their conquering of the wilderness and the final establishment of businesses, churches, schools, and burying places for their dead.

Told of Early Hardships

Mrs. Susan Hatfield related the story of the beginning of Ridgway and the part played by the Bean family in the development of the land which her father, Jim Bean, secured for 50 cents an acre. She explained the hardships encountered in clearing, improving and modernizing the land. She also told that Ridgway was named for Thomas S. Ridgway of Shawneetown who was instrumental in securing the railroad about which the town grew.

Mrs. Arvilla Shain Smith displayed an account book from the Smith and Philhour store for the year 1857. In it whiskey sold for

16 of Escort Ships Join Hunt For Airmen

One Is Picked Up; Rescue Mission Searches for Second

ABOARD U. S. S. SARATOGA (AP)—A giant air-sea search for two downed pilots today cancelled much of the impressive Navy training exercises being staged for President Eisenhower and three Cabinet officers.

Sixteen of the 19 warships escorting this huge supercarrier and presidential flagship pulled out of the task force to scour Atlantic coastal waters in the partially successful rescue mission.

One of the pilots was spotted shortly after dawn floating on a life raft off the Georgia coast. He was picked up almost immediately by a helicopter dispatched by the aircraft carrier Valley Forge.

Ships and planes of the rescue fleet continued their intensive search in hope the other pilot also had bailed out of his disabled plane and managed to inflate his life raft.

With most of its ships engaged in this operation, the Navy cancelled a good part of its demonstration of the latest in jet planes, guided missiles and naval techniques planned for the President and the three members of his Cabinet.

Fire Regulus Missile

Washed out was "Operation Washout"—a new technique for enveloping a fighting ship in water mist to ward off radioactive fallout after a nuclear bomb blast.

Also cancelled was a surface-to-air launching of Terrier guided missiles from the cruiser Boston, and an anti-submarine exercise conducted by sonar-equipped helicopters from the carrier Valley Forge.

The President and his aides, however, did get to see the surface-to-surface firing of the Regulus guided missile from the Saratoga. The Regulus, in turn, served as a target for Sidewinder missiles fired by attack planes from the Saratoga.

The Saratoga did not take part in the air-sea search and rescue mission because her 60,000-ton bulk is so massive that she would not be of too much help in such operations.

The President was scheduled to return to Mayport this afternoon to fly back to Washington. He planned to make an important political speech to a big Republican rally in the capital later this afternoon.

Girl Scouts of Saline County Receive Awards at Karel Park

Wednesday was a busy day at Karel park for the Brownie and Intermediate Scouts of Saline county. Brownies, Intermediate Scouts, leaders, committee women, and mothers arrived in time to enjoy a picnic and social hour before afternoon ceremonies began.

The Fly-Up for the Brownies began with the flag ceremony, presented by Troop 269. After the flag was presented and the pledge of allegiance was given, all troops joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Brownie Troop 263 formed a circle and gave the Girl Scout promise while saluting Mrs. Frank Hepler, president, and Miss Mabel Webb, executive director, of King Coal Council. Mrs. Hepler praised the girls for their progress and explained that they were now ready to work on their 2nd class badge.

The leader, Mrs. Glen Muckley, passed out the Trefoil pins. Miss Webb told the girls that the gold Trefoil pin is a symbol of membership and would always remind them of the three parts of the promise which they have taken. Brownie Troop 263 had become Intermediate Scout Troop 263. Troops 256, 262, and 268 were invested in like manner. The Girl Scout quartet, composed of Kathleen Morris, Lynn Franks, Roberta Patrick and Roberta McLain, then sang, "When 'Ere You Make a Promise."

Next came the Court of Awards. Intermediate Troops 269, 266, 257, and 255 were given 2nd class badges by their leaders. Miss Webb then told the girls that they had earned their 2nd class badge thru hard work combined with fun, and since they had made a promise, they were a little different from other girls and on their honor must do their best always. The quartet then sang "Make New Friends."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)
Points of argument must be proven with evidence in order to convince some people. Our opponents seem to doubt our honesty, our integrity and our veracity. Even after we have presented the evidence, some folk discount the evidence.

Faith in God, and faith in man's consistency is enough to convince a few people. These people accept the word of a friend, or the promise of the printed word.

God demands a great deal from man but He does not ask our signatures, nor does He demand payment without warning. He requires us to have faith in Him, and in return He pays great peace and freedom from mental suffering.

SIU Group to Blaze Horseback Trail In Shawnee Forest

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A small group of Southern Illinois University students will abandon books this spring and establish a horseback trail through Shawnee National Forest in southeastern Illinois.

Purpose of the three-day trail-blazing expedition, beginning Thursday, June 13, is to provide access to scenic views in the rugged Illinois Ozarks which cannot be reached by car.

"Each spring, we have made horseback trips through that area, but this time we want to mark a clear, permanent trail which others can follow," explained Robert Bernard, Carbondale, past president of Alpha Phi Omega, SIU service fraternity.

The fraternity will conduct the expedition in cooperation with the University's recreation and outdoor education department. Glenn (Abe) Martin and Irwin Peithmann, faculty members, will supervise the project.

Bernard said a base camp will be set up at Bell Smith Springs. Horses and provisions will be trucked to the camp. Riders will travel both east and west to locate, mark, and map a trail extending roughly from Ozark in Johnson county to Herod in Pope county.

"This link will complete a good horse route all the way from Goreville on Route 37 east to Pounds Hollow Recreation Area just off Highway 1," Bernard said. "Rangers from the Forestry Service will help us mark a trail that is entirely on government land—off the roads and private property."

Although aware that trail blazing is difficult work, Bernard said, "It will seem simple compared to what we've been through." He referred to final examinations, which end Wednesday (June 12) at SIU.

LATEST HAPPENINGS AT

Equality

By Ida B. Coyle

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in Equality. Under the auspices of the American Legion a line of march was formed to the Old Equality Cemetery where appropriate band music and salute to the honored war dead was given as the children placed flowers on all the graves. Like honors were extended to the departed soldiers at Elmwood and St. Joseph's cemeteries. All three cemeteries were in good condition. Mowing had been done and all had been put in order. Those in charge should be commended. Especially should thanks be extended to the loyal ones for their splendid work on the Old Cemetery. Many visited the cemeteries throughout the day and a number from out of town were here to pay tribute to loved ones.

The Allis Chalmers Dealers, employees and their wives of this territory were entertained Wednesday night, May 29, at the Kur to Country Club which was the closing of a sales contest. The following attended from DeVos Brothers: Mr. and Mrs. Philip DeVos, Mr. and Mrs. Bob DeVos, Joe DeVos, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cremins, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vickery and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey McLain. Miss Bernadine Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hamilton, has the honor of having been chosen secretary of the 1957 Homecoming Steering Committee of Southern Illinois University. The function of this committee is to plan and take charge of all activities of the Homecoming week which is an annual event during the month of October. The schedule dates this year are October 8 and 9.

Mrs. John Crest of near Equality reports that she still has hail stones, one measuring 9 1/2 by 8 1/2, and a number of smaller stones in her deep freeze as the result of the wind, hail and rain storm of Tuesday night, May 21. Their 5-inch rain gauge ran over so no report of the rain was given. Much damage was done throughout the community. In the town, trees were uprooted and limbs were blown from most trees and some roofs were damaged. The general clean up which followed the storm is about complete and only a few broken limbs are to be seen on the streets.

Mrs. Joe Eubanks of Norfolk, Va., arrived Saturday to spend a few days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. Williams. She also visited relatives in Omaha and Eldorado.

History of Ridgway Given at Meeting

50 cents a gallon and green coffee for six pounds for $1.00.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cox told of the founding of the Cumberland Presbyterian church on land given by her great grandfather, John C. Crawford, in 1832. She related the history of the church from the beginnings of the brush arbor meetings and the development of the church until its movement to Ridgway in 1880.

Society Expresses Thanks

Mrs. Grace Hale told of the establishment of the Methodist church and Smith school on land given by her great-grandfather, Josiah Edwards Jackson, in 1851 and 1869.

Rev. L. C. Irby, pastor of the First Baptist church, asked the blessing and contributed a brief history of the Baptist church. Mr. Tom Colton added to the discussion and displayed an early Ordinance Book of the Village of Ridgway.

Many incidents of historical interest, both serious and humorous in nature, were brought out in the discussion and sketches presented. Following the discussion the society expressed its appreciation to the Ridgway citizens who helped make possible the meeting, and voiced thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Bryant for the opportunity to hold the June meeting in such beautiful and spacious surroundings.

Bakery Union Official Invokes 5th Amendment

WASHINGTON — A union official accused of squeezing $85,470 from New York bakery workers and employers refused today to say whether he was a Communist before 1950.

The witness, Frank Dutto, invoked the Fifth Amendment when the Senate Labor Rackets Committee insisted on an answer.

Dutto said he signed a non-Communist oath in 1950 which was "true and it's true now."

The Communist angle came as a surprise development at Dutto, organizing director of New York's big Local 3 of the Baker Workers Union, was being questioned about how he cooked up a testimonial dinner for Max Kralstein, international vice president of the union for the New York area.

The committee charged that Kralstein got $37,818 from the dinner, which he used to buy and furnish a $40,000 home. His wife got a $1,650 present and Kralstein got a $1,447 portrait, the committee said.

Committee investigator Lavern J. Duffy presented affidavits from five small New York bakers who said they bought $50 to $200 ads in a souvenir program for the dinner because they didn't want trouble with the union. They said they did not contribute voluntarily, did not know Kralstein and did not know where the money was going.

Joseph Tenzar, former business agent for Local 3, described Kralstein as "the little dictator" who negotiated all bakery workers union contracts in the city.

Tenzar testified that the money for the testimonial dinner was raised by "pressure."

County Receives Final Payment for School Bus Claims

C. R. Gardner, Saline county superintendent of schools, has received an additional $2,291.71 as final payment of claims for Saline county totaling $28,874.20 in the state's share of the cost of transporting common school pupils during the school year which ended June 30, 1956, according to an announcement today by State Auditor Elbert S. Smith.

This amount, Auditor Smith explained, represents approximately eight per cent of the local schools total claim. An original payment representing approximately 92 per cent of the total claim was paid by the Auditor's office last September.

Section 29-8 of the School Code provides that the state shall reimburse the local schools three-fourths of their actual cost of transporting pupils. However, the amount of payment shall not exceed a total of $20 per pupil for the full school year. The Code also stipulates that if the amount appropriated is less than the total of the claims, the Auditor may proportionately reduce the claims so that each county would receive an equal portion of their full claim.

Clifton Truman Daniel Name of Margaret's Baby

NEW YORK — The two-day-old grandson of former President Truman today held the name of Clifton Truman Daniel.

Selection of the name was announced Thursday night by the father, Clifton Daniel, a member of the news staff of the New York Times. The child, he said, was named for his two grandfathers, E. Clifton Daniel of Zebulon, N. C., and the former President.

Daniel said that he and his wife, the former Margaret Truman, were "in perfect agreement" on the name, but had waited until the arrival of the Trumans Thursday before announcing it. Daniel said he had informed his parents by telephone of the decision.

Truman had said earlier, he did not want the child named for him because "it can be a hardship on a boy to be named after a president."

The former President and Mrs. Truman spent half an hour Thursday visiting their daughter and viewing the infant through a nursery window at Doctors Hospital. Asked whom the baby resembled, Truman said:

"He looks very much like both his father and mother."

U. S., Poland Sign Pact for American Aid

WASHINGTON — The United States and Communist Poland today signed an agreement promising $48,900,000 in American agricultural products and mining machinery to the independence-seeking Gomulka regime.

The agreement marked the first extension of U. S. aid to a Communist nation since last fall's satellite revolts in Eastern Europe. American officials hoped it would help Premier Wladislaw Gomulka hold to his policy of greater independence from Moscow.

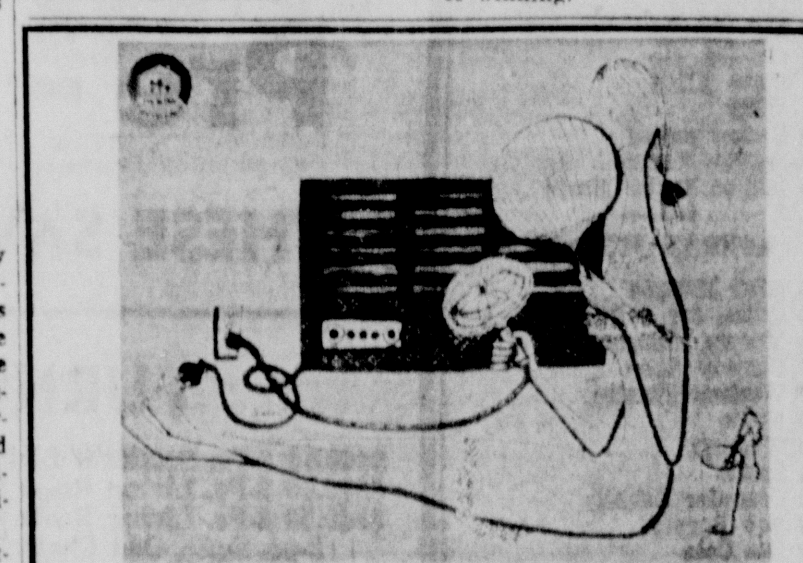

The United States also pledged an additional shipment of $46,100,000 worth of surplus wheat and cotton, boosting the total Polish aid figure to $95 million dollars, as soon as Congress passes enabling legislation.

The State Department decided to go ahead with a partial aid agreement after the House delayed action on a bill to authorize an additional billion dollars worth of surplus agricultural sales abroad.

The Polish shipments anticipated in the supplemental aid agreement will come out of this authorization.

Today's initial agreement calls for an Export-Import Bank loan of 30 million dollars largely for use in buying mining machinery. The United States also will sell Poland, for Polish currency, $18,900,000 worth of cotton, fats, and oils.

Poet Denounces TV Commercials

ASHVILLE, N. C. — Poet Carl Sandburg started a gathering of 3,000 women from across the nation Thursday night by denouncing television commercials for "inanity, asinity, silliness and cheap trickery."

Sitting beside him on the stage at the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs was television star Arlene Francis, who had preceded him on the program.

Sandburg watched Miss Francis receive a federation citation for her TV show "Home" (NBC). Then, after being introduced himself, remarked drily:

"When we reach the stage where all of the people are entertained all of the time, we will be very close to having the opiate of the people."

Sandburg then launched into his criticism of television, movies, and even contemporary poets, but directed most of his barbs at TV commercials.

"More than half the commercials are so filled with inanity, asinity, silliness and cheap trickery that to every man and woman who loves children it's a question of what's it doing to these young people," he said. "And you've got to sit there and take it."

But Sandburg added, in a milder vein, that television is a "young medium and we will pray for it." His audience burst into laughter and applauded.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Norman of RFD 1, Harrisburg, were called home from Chicago, where they have been employed in recent months, to attend the funeral Thursday, of Virgil Lands, stepfather of Mr. Norman. John Norman, with Mrs. Norman of Chicago, another stepson, also came for the funeral. Other survivors of Mr. Lands are stepdaughters, Mrs. Ella Blackman of Harrisburg and Mrs. Grace Clark of Detroit, Mich.

The Clinton Normans were called to Harrisburg two weeks ago because of the illness of their daughter, Mrs. Bill Harrison. Mrs. Harrison's condition has improved so much that she was able to accompany her husband and son to Harrisburg on Friday.

Stratton Signs State Fair Bill

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton today signed his "tough" State Fair admission policy into law.

Beginning with the 1958 fair, there will be no free admissions to the fair grounds during fair week, not even for fair exhibitors. The only exceptions are children under 12, and veterans and their families on Veterans Day.

The Agriculture Department here will set the admission charges, including a family ticket to cover the entire fair week, and automobile fees.

The existing "free" gate effective at 6 p. m. each day of the fair will also be abolished, and admission will be charged at night. The "teeth" in the new law provides fines of up to $100 for persons attempting or aiding or abetting others to avoid paying admission charges.

Wealthy Lawyer Kills Ex-Wife

CHICAGO — A millionaire art collector, attorney and explorer apparently shot and killed his beautiful ex-wife in a rage when a reconciliation attempt failed and then tried to take his own life, police said today.

Authorities said Bailey Stanton, 64, muttered "This was a suicide pact." But Police Capt. Leroy Steffens said he doubted Stanton's story.

Stanton was found slumped beside the body of his mink-clad former wife, Dr. Margaret Stanton, 45, Thursday in her parked car.

"Let me die," Stanton pleaded when police arrived. "Please let me die."

The victim was looking forward to her marriage next Wednesday to Dr. Max Forkosh, 49, a dentist and founder of the Forkosh Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Stanton had been on the hospital staff as a physician and surgeon for six years.

Stanton's condition was described today as "fair" at Illinois Masonic Hospital. However, physicians said even if he survives, he will be blinded for life.

The slaying occurred only minutes after Stanton had given her three orchids with a note "To my dearest love."

Quints Born Prematurely Die

VILLA DE JOAO BELO, Mozambique — Quintuplets born prematurely Thursday to a native woman all died today, a spokesman for the regional hospital said.

Dr. Antonio Moreira, director of the hospital here, told the United Press:

"The infants did not have any chance of survival from the outset. They had no resistance, and all died within 24 hours of being born."

He said the mother was well and in no danger.

Moreira said the four boys and a girl were born to Selina Corane, 30.

Mrs. Corane, wife of a native laundryman from the interior of Mozambique, was reported to have previously given birth to twins, triplets and quadruplets. Early reports said her previous children were living, but doctors said today all had died except one of the twins—a girl now 9 years old.

"THE FIRST STEP TOWARD A CURE IS TO KNOW WHAT THE DISEASE IS"

Research scientists have now perfected some chemical re-agents that enable physicians to make a positive diagnosis of certain diseases. Often the cause of a sickness still has to be determined by skillfully eliminating what it cannot be. Sometimes, more than one visit is necessary to accomplish this.

To impatiently rush from one physician to another is unwise. You can usually get well much more quickly if after choosing your physician, you give him the necessary time to find out what is wrong, so that he can help you most.

Robin Roberts Hurls Phils To 6-2 Victory Over Reds; Cardinals Blank Pirates, 6-0

By United Press
Robin Roberts gave the Philadelphia Phillies' long-shot pennant hopes a "shot in the arm" today with proof he can still win the big ones.
The 30-year-old right hander came through with a sharp eight-hitter Thursday night to give the Phillies a 6-2 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The victory moved the Phillies to within 1 1/2 games of first-place Cincinnati.
The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-0, and the New York Giants downed the Braves, 2-0, in the other National League games. Chicago at Brooklyn was called off after an inning and a half when a dense fog enveloped Ebbets Field and made it impossible to follow the ball.

Chisox Maintain Lead
The Chicago White Sox maintained their five-game American League lead with a 3-2 win over the Boston Red Sox while the second-place New York Yankees also made it four straight victories when they routed the Cleveland Indians, 14-5. The Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 7-6, and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Kansas City A's, 8-3, in other A. L. activity.

Roberts was backed by a 10-hit attack that included homers by Stan Lopata, Bob Bowman and Rip Repulski. Don Gross suffered his second defeat.

Stan Musial whacked two doubles to raise his average to .361 and take over the N. L. batting lead. St. Louis' 41-year-old Murry Dickson pitched a six-hitter and contributed two hits to the Cardinals' 12-hit attack that dealt Ron Kline his eighth loss.

Ruben Gomez became the N. L.'s first seven-game winner with a nifty four-hitter that paved the way for the Braves' fifth loss in seven games. Red Schoendienst walloped his eighth homer of the year for the Giants. Bob Buhl, a four-game winner, suffered his second defeat.

Minnie Mino's two-run seventh inning homer enabled the White Sox to overcome a 2-1 deficit and present 35-year-old Jim Wilson with his sixth victory. Wilson limited the Red Sox to seven hits and struck out five. He hurled the fourth straight complete game by a White Sox pitcher. Dave Sisler was the loser.

NBA Suspends Archie Moore

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Archie Moore, who has successfully avoided defending his lightweight crown for a year, was slapped with a suspension today by National Boxing Assn. President Floyd Stevens.

Stevens said that Moore now must defend the title by July 7 or it will be vacated by the NBA.

"And I don't mean just sign for a defense by July 7," Stevens said. "We're going through with our decision of a month ago."

At that time Moore was given an additional period to pare pounds from his 200-plus frame to the 175-pound light-heavy limit. Moore has been in Germany barnstorming and has demanded a $100,000 guarantee.

The goateed performer appeared to have signed to defend tonight against Tony Anthony, the No. 1 challenger, when Moore was in Detroit in March. But later Moore said he only faked signing the pact for the benefit of photographers.

VFW Nine to Play Evansville Here Saturday Night

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team will go after its eighth win of the season Saturday night when it tangles with the Evansville Unionteam on VFW field at 7:30.

Evansville has won most of its games this season and promises to give the locals plenty of competition.

The locals will have either Don Stout or Raymond Tonazzi on the hill with Dick Romonosky catching. Bob Dallas will be on 1st. Stout, Griffith, Odle and Gulley will round out the infield with McNew, Wallace, Sisky, Hay, Logsdon in the outfield, and Fedeler, Miller and Givens may also see action.

The management is hoping for a good dry field and a good night. It invites the public out to see the fine team in action.

Michigan State has been represented by at least one member of every U. S. Olympic team since 1928.

Gene Fullmer- 'Tiger' Jones Bout Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—A unique three-way fight takes place in Chicago Stadium tonight when ex-champ Gene Fullmer tangles with middleweight Ralph (Tiger) Jones while both battle the image of current title holder Sugar Ray Robinson.

Fullmer grabbed the middleweight crown from Robinson some time back, then relinquished it last month when Robinson unleashed a single left hook that sent Fullmer sprawling. Fullmer admitted he "never knew what hit" him.

Jones whipped Robinson in a non-title fight back in January, 1955, but never got a championship bid.

So now Fullmer, trying to make his way back up to Robinson, and Jones, who never quite got there in the first place, take on one another in a 10-round nationally-televised 160-pound match.

Allan and Mollie found no fewer than eight notables gathered in the familiar dining room of the hotel. Jules Fernana was overjoyed to see them. All unctuousness had dropped from his manner; he was now a cultured host, pure and simple. He introduced his friends to Mollie with the air of one who was sure that all his guests would like each other. But when he came to introduce his brother, Georges, Allan intervened, addressing Jules by his Christian name for the first time, without either permission or embarrassment.

"My dear Jules," he said, "I am going to claim the privilege of introducing Georges to my wife myself. Mollie, this is Georges Fernana, with whom, as I told you,

I had an unexpected yachting trip last night. I hope that one day we shall see both Jules and Georges at Larg. We can't do them quite as well as at the Hotel Asdrubal, but we'll do our best, and they'll have to put up with it."

The two brothers looked warily at him. "We want to have no secrets from you, Col. Larg, except such as might be embarrassing for you to share with us," said Georges. "If you are asking us if there is any chance of their making their peace with the French, the answer is No. Never."

"I thought so," said Allan. "And again, I don't want to pry into their plans. I am getting so many secrets into my head that soon I won't know what I can talk about to whom. I am perfectly certain that de la Meziere is full of good faith; but I have the feeling that he will be ordered to Clusium by the authorities in Tunis; and he will have no possible reason for refusing. When the order comes he will have to go. It is up to you to decide what he is to find there."

There was a short pause, while the brothers thought.

"Is there no chance," asked Georges, "that the French will continue to leave Clusium unvisited? They always have respected it almost as a secret shrine. Now that we are to have this new relationship with each other, between the Seknougais and the French, will they choose this time of all others to search Clusium? It would not be a very happy beginning."

"It would not, indeed. But you must remember that there has been a revolt here, and it would be a miracle if the French were to overlook it altogether. I am absolutely certain that Col. de la Meziere is a man of honor. He means every word of his undertaking. But he has got to convince his own superiors, and they have got to ratify the bargain we all made this morning."

"Surely," said Jules, "there can be no question of the French not being bound by what he said to us?"

"De la Meziere told me that if there were any question of that he would resign his commission, and I believe him. The bargain is that Seknou should have more powers of self-administration now than it used to have, and that the family of Al Merhametsiz is to be recognized as the ruling dynasty; but don't forget that there is still to be a French resident."

The growing sound of an aircraft made him break off. It was apparently coming from the west, and the noise of its engines had come suddenly into earshot as it flew in low over the hill.

Allan was already at the window, but he could see nothing from there and nipped out into the garden, followed by the notables. The noise grew deafening, and then, only a few hundred feet above the roof, there appeared the heavy but graceful lines of a flying boat.

Allan and Mollie went to their old room in the hotel and were aroused later by a knock on the door. Allan opened it.

"Hallo, Brisebarre!" said Allan. And he went out on the landing, shutting the door behind him.

"There's a man from Tunis in that flying boat," said Brisebarre indignantly. "Name of Loisy. He's some big shot in the Tunis Government. Apparently he flew down to Nail when he heard that that show was over. He kept well back when there was real trouble, and now he's shoving his nose wherever people manage to get themselves out of the mess which he was probably responsible for getting them into."

"We'll see him," said Allan.

Loisy proved to be as unprepossessing as Brisebarre had described him. He was small and dark and scornful. He reminded Allan instantly of Pierre Laval. He addressed half a dozen words to de la Meziere, whose fuming temper seemed almost to be echoing off the walls of the room, but who bowed, and said to Mollie with the greatest possible politeness:

"Monsieur Loisy has asked me to express to you, with his homages, his most profound regrets, but he wishes to have the privilege of a few words in private with Col. Larg; and he wonders whether he could possibly ask you to wait, perhaps in the garden, for a few minutes while he is doing so?"

"Certainly," said Mollie, "and perhaps you might congratulate him from me, on the way in which he managed to compress such a beautifully phrased hint into so few words. I thought it was masterly. Tell him some time that I heard exactly what he said, and that I understand French."

fire apparently caused by an overloaded electrical circuit.

The victims, Paul Edward Yates, 12, and his brothers, Louis Wayne, 10, and Richard Lee, 8, were trapped in a rear bedroom of the family's second floor apartment on Chicago's North Side.

Another son, Phillip, 20, jumped from a window and suffered a possible broken back. The flames were discovered by the mother, Mrs. Birgitte Yates, 37, who awakened her husband, Charles, 40. They tried to reach the young children, but were driven back by the flames.
